

West Highland White Terrier Club of America Code of Ethics

The West Highland White Terrier Club of America recognizes its responsibility to preserve and protect the West Highland White Terrier. It further recognizes that the quality and reputation of the breed rest squarely in the hands of its breeders.

Members are individually granted membership in the West Highland White Terrier Club of America because of their commitment to the protection, preservation, and betterment of the breed. This Code of Ethics sets forth the minimum standards of conduct by which each member has agreed to be bound in consideration of the grant of membership. Violation of these standards of conduct may cause the Board of Directors of the West Highland White Terrier Club of America to invoke the provisions of Article VI of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Club, which would lead to sanctions up to and including expulsion from the West Highland White Terrier Club of America.

1. Members shall at all times act in the interest of the breed and in the interest and well being of individual dogs and in a manner in keeping with the aims and interests of the West Highland White Terrier Club of America.

3. Members shall screen prospective Westie owners to the best of their ability. They shall educate prospective owners as to their responsibilities to the breed and to individual dogs. Breeder members shall remain available as a resource as needed for as long as any dog sold by them shall live. Breeder members shall accept responsibility for any dogs they produce, for as long as those dogs live, should any be abandoned, abused, relinquished, or become homeless. If a Breeder member fails, or is unable to accept such responsibility, then the owner of the distressed dog's sire, if a member, should step forward and assist in efforts to rescue the dog.
4. No member shall knowingly sell, lease, loan, trade, give, consign or otherwise provide any dog, or any stud service to any pet shop, catalogue house, research laboratory, or any wholesale dealer in dogs, or to any person who sells to pet shops, catalogue houses, laboratories, or person or entity that deals in dogs for resale or is known to be unethical in dealings or treatment of dogs. No member shall aid or abet any such transaction. Board-approved health research or veterinary research universities, where there is benefit to the health of the breed, are exempt.

7. Members will only do breedings that are planned with the aim of improving the breed, with consideration given to type, temperament, health, and soundness. Members shall be familiar with the Standard of the West Highland White Terrier and must discourage matings between inferior specimens of the breed. No dog exhibiting a hereditary health defect or unsound temperament shall be bred, except as a test breeding to determine

- the genetic composition of the mate. Any puppies resulting from a test breeding for serious hereditary defects must be placed as required in paragraph 6 above, unless the puppy is placed for the purpose of test breeding only. No dog exhibiting poor health shall be bred.
8. Any member offering stud services shall deny service to any bitch not registered with the American Kennel Club or any bitch exhibiting any serious defect in type, temperament, structure, or poor health. The member shall honestly disclose to the bitch's owner any known defects (known or thought to be hereditary) in the stud, his predecessors or progeny. The owner of the bitch shall honestly make the same type of disclosures to the stud owner concerning the bitch, her predecessors and progeny.
 9. No member will breed a bitch unless he/she has the time and facilities to devote to the proper care and attention to both the physical and emotional development of the puppies and the well being of the dam. No puppy will be placed in a new home before the puppy is eight weeks old, weaned and had its first immunization.
 10. No member will provide stud service unless he/she is satisfied that the bitch's owner has the time and facilities necessary for the proper care and development of the puppies.
